AP
2
.A332
v. 9
1884

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

PAGE

KANT'S SYSTEM OF PHILOSOPHY. By Rev. Walter H. Hill, S. J., . . . 1

Kant's system entirely new when originated, 1; The obscurity peculiar to all his writings, 2; How Kant built up his system, 3; His views as compared with Fichte's, 4; Kant's and Aristotle's categories, 5; His theory, and objections to it, 6; Undertaking to prove first principles, 7; His synthetical judgment d priori, 8; Kant and Hume, 9; a tertium quid to which Kant attached great importance, 10; Said to be a borrower from Dr. Reed, 11; Are all mathematical judgments synthetical? 12; Kant's "transcendental doctrine of method," 13; The argument of his entire work in brief, 14; Resuming the salient principles of his ideal philosophy, 15.

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF FREDERIC II.—PART FIRST. By Prof. St. George Mivart, F.R.S., etc., ... 17

Modern writers on the Middle Ages, 17; Considerations inviting our attention to the career of the second Frederic, 18; The Popes of the early Middle Ages, 19; The Germano-Roman emperors of the same period, 22; Some of the German States, 24; Henry IV. and Gregory VII., 27; The House of Hohenstaufen, 29; When we first hear of Berlin, Vienna, and Munich, 32; The second Crusade, 33; Frederic Barbarossa elected Emperor, 34.

THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC AND THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA. By Alexander Sullivan, ... 35

Propositions affirmed in reply to a common criticism, 35; The debt which America owes to Ireland, 36; Tempting immigrants to America, 37; Flight of Protestants from Ireland even in Swift's time, 38; Irish aid indispensable to American independence, 39; America directly and selfishly interested in Ireland's independence, 40; Those in America who complain of Irish agitation, 41; Irish-American organization beneficial to this country, and why, 42; What the National League does to make better citizens, 43.

IS IT THE WILL OF GOD THAT ALL MEN SHOULD BE SAVED? By Rev. R. F. Clarke, S. J., ... 45

The intense individual interest which the Creator takes in every one of his creatures, 45; The Jansenists and God's providence, 47; How God's will appears to be frustrated, 49; The difference between His antecedent and His consequent will, 50; A mock independence, 51; The malignity of God's enemies turned to His honor and glory, 53; The secret of the unbroken joy of God's ministering angels, 54; What the consequent will of God secures, 55; God really and truly desires man's temporal and eternal happiness, 56.

THE CHINESE IN AMERICA. By Bryan J. Clinche, ... 57

The points at issue in this Chinese question, 57; There is no point on which public opinion is more decided than on immigration, 58; The ease with which some and the difficulty with which other races unite, 60; Is there danger of an Asiatic power growing up on any part of this continent? 61; Possible serious results of Chinese immigration, 62; Probabilities of Asiatic colonization on this continent, 63; Where the Chinese immigrants have come from, 65; The Chinese in America are of an essentially migratory nature, 67; Value of Chinese immigration as a means of spreading Christianity, 69; Whether the recent legislation affecting the Chinese is wise or not, 70.

PURITANISM IN NEW ENGLAND. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 70

New England's place in American history, 70; Literature of the subject, 71; Characteristics of New England Puritanism, 72; The change of religion in England, 73; The Separatists of Plymouth and the Puritans of Massachusetts, 74; The founders of New England not advocates of liberty of conscience, 75; Roger Williams, 76; An intolerant champion of toleration, 77; Puritan persecution of Baptists and Quakers, 78; The New England penalty for advocating toleration, 79; Efforts to excuse the conduct towards the Quakers, 80; Parallel between Puritanism and Mormonism, 81; Outcome of the Puritan way of thinking, 82; Marvels in Puritan historical records, 83; The Salem witchcraft persecution, 84; Puritan treatment of inferior races, 85; Compared with the work of Catholic missionaries, 86; The Puritans never made lasting allies of the Indians, 87; Puritan greed fomented Indian wars, 88; Slavery in New England, 89; A narrow-minded, tyrannical and intolerant set, 90; Those of them to whom most credit is due, 91.

PAGE

THE IMPENDING CONFLICT IN FRENCH POLITICS. By A. de G., ... 92

Recent foreign policy of France, 92; Social disturbance in the country, 93; Modern philosophism in French politics, 94; Rise of the third Republic, 95; Gambetta's career and principles, 97; The Comte de Chambord, 98; He and Gambetta compared, 100; The present danger of social upheaval, 101; Views of anti-Catholic German thinkers, 102; A peculiar French characteristic, 103; The anti-Catholic movement outside of France, 104.

THE RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF FAMILY AND STATE IN REGARD TO EDUCATION. By Rev. James Conway, S. J., ... 105

The theory that the child primarily belongs to the State, 105; Institution of the family, 106; What is meant by education, 107; Duties of parents towards children, 108; Feelings of children towards parents, 110; Parents may receive assistance from others in educating their children, 111; Education in Ancient Rome and Greece, 112; The great change effected by the coming of Christ, 113; The modern State system of education a revival of the ancient Pagan form, 114; Development of civil society and authority, 115; The rights violated by State education, 116; Relation of State education to crime, 118; Social effects of State education, 119; Views of Spencer and Mill, 120; State education highly injurious to civilization, 121; Competition the life of education, 122; The State's real duty towards education, 123; How far the State should legislate in the matter, 125; Summing up the views expressed in this article, 127.

WHAT DID THE "REFORMATION" REFORM? By George D. Wolff, . . . 127

Professed and real objects of the "Reformers," 127; The outbreak of the sixteenth century no real reform of religion, 129; Church authority before the Council of Nice, 130; The rule by which error was then determined from truth, 131; The age just following that of the Apostles, 132; That of the Apostles themselves, 134; The whole weight of evidence against the "Reformers," 136; Consequences of supposing the Protestant rule of faith to be the true one, 138; The rule of faith laid down by the Apostles, 139; The Reformation was a breaking away from the body of the church, 140; The doctrine of private judgment, 142; Protestantism brought no reformation in morality, 144; How logically Luther was led to deny free will, 145; Calvin's doctrine of predestination, 146; Crimes increased with the Reformation, 147; Evidences from the present condition of Protestant and Catholic countries, 149; The Reformation has not promoted intellectual progress, 150; The Church and education, 151; Protestant plunder and destruction of universities, 152; Material advantages in favor of Protestants, 153; The "Reformation" did not advance civil liberty, 154; Protestantism and the rise of absolute monarchy, 155; Non-Catholic conduct of Catholic kings, 156; Principles laid down by St. Thomas, 156; And other theologians, 158; Abuses in the Church, 159; Scandals and sins will come, 150; Secular impediments to the Church's work, 161; The chief cause of abuses, 162; Nature and failure of the Reformation, 163; Christendom to-day, 164; The power of Protestantism has waned, 165.

THE SPIRITUALITY OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. By "R.," 166

Does the Catholic religion tend to formalism? 166; A voice from the far-off Middle Ages, 167; The Catholic Church alone teaches the science of the saints, 168; Miracles and supernatural experiences, 169; The greatest of all miracles, 171; Solemnity of Catholic worship, 172; The views of a Unitarian minister, 173; Protestant idea of devotion to the Blessed Virgin and the Saints, 174; The Catholic practice explained, 175.

THE PLURALITY OF WORLDS. By Rev. J. B. de Concilio, ... 193

Paine's astronomical objection to Christianity, 193; Probability of every solar system being inhabited, 194; A few preliminary observations on astronomical teaching, 195; St. Thomas on the various centres of the universe, 196; More of St. Thomas's cosmological doctrine, 198; The suns of other systems than ours, 199; Why we should believe other planets to be peopled, 200; A parallel from microscopic animalcules, 201; Inferences from the variety of species of all created beings, 202; Nature of the purely intellectual substances in creation, 203; The object and manner of exercise of angels' intellect, 204; Results of St. Thomas's remarks, 205; Other evidences of the existence of a plurality of worlds, 206; Consequences of there not being a plurality of worlds, 207; Would uninhabited myriads of worlds be of any use in a moral sense? 209; Father Secchi called in evidence, 211; Would the plurality of inhabited worlds be in conflict with our faith? 211; St. Thomas and St. Augustine quoted, 212; In what relation would other inhabited worlds stand to Christ? 213; Did their inhabitants need a Redeemer? 215; Conclusion, 215.

OF THE NATURE OF THE HUMAN SOUL. By Rev. J. Ming, S. J., . . 216

Negations by modern Agnosticism, 216; The great importance of throwing light on the nature of our mind, 217; Of the soul in general, 218; Strikingness of man's self-activity, 219; Difficulty of silencing the materialists, 220; Difference between mental and merely material actions, 221; Conclusions touching the essence of the soul in general, 222; Application of definitions, 224; The soul is a substantial act, 225; It is but one in each living being, 226; Simplicity of the human soul, 227; It is free from any kind of substantial composition, 229; Proofs and their sources, 230; Objections raised, 232; Excluding every composition of essential constituents, 234; In what cognition in general consists, 235; Conclusions tending effectively to combat materialism, 236; Parallel drawn from the science of the visible universe, 237.

PAGE

THE IMPROVEMENT OF PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS. By Rev. H. A. Brann, D.D., 238

Views of leading authorities on education, 238; The public school system and Christianity, 239; Attendance in Catholic and in non-Catholic schools, 240; Indifference of the sects to religious education, 241; A lesson from Belgium, 242; Result of religious zeal in that country, 243; Why Catholics object to the public schools, 244; Matters as to which our parochial system might be improved, 245; Difficulties of Catholics in early times, 246; The multiplication of studies in schools, 247; Lack of system the greatest defect, 248; The system of grading, 249; The uniformity of text-books, 250; Training-schools for teachers, 251; Plenty of work for the proper authorities, 252; The question of a Catholic University, 253.

THE WANING INFLUENCE OF THE ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES. By A. F. Marshall, B.A. (Oxon), ... 253

How the English Universities have lost their former influence, 253; Recent elections at Oxford, 254; Great names and religious movements in Universities, 255; How the Church of England now suffers, 257; The Universities have little or no political influence, 258; Effect of James II.'s example, 259; The two great English Universities fifty years ago, 260; The Catholic and the non-Catholic idea of a university, 261; Oxford and Cambridge since they ceased to be Catholic, 263; No adequate compensation for the loss of influence, 264; The new school of natural religionists, 266; The very root of English popular skepticism, 267; Causes to which the waning influence of the Universities may be attributed, 268.

THE MORMON QUESTION AND THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT. By Bryan J. Clinche, ... 271

The internal enemies of modern society, 271; Mormonism a dangerous foe to our institutions, 273; The Mormon system of government and the American Constitution, 274; The rights of the Mormons and the mode of dealing with them, 275; The difficulty of breaking down the religio-political organization of their sect, 277; Their abode in the United States, 278; To what the rise and progress of Mormonism is to be attributed, 279; Summing up the question to be solved in regard to the Mormons, 280; Should polygamy be tolerated in the United States, 281; The question of toleration of all religions, 282; The rights acquired by tacit acquiescence, 283; The Mormons should not be admitted to the rights of a sovereign State, 284.

THE PROPAGANDA QUESTION AND OUR DUTY. By Rev. Bernard O'Reilly, L. D. (Laval), ... 285

The strange spectacle now seen in old Catholic countries, 285; Aggressions of the House of Savoy, 286; The real position of the Propaganda, 287; The conspirators are no Catholics, 288; For what purpose the Propaganda was organized, 289; Some American Protestants and the Catholic Church, 290; Suppose the Propaganda were an American institution, 291; American opinion of its spoliation, 292; A brief account of its foundation, 293; The American College, 295; How it has been saved from alienation, 296; The entire Propaganda itself should be likewise saved, 297; The action of the Italian courts, 298; The plain and urgent duty of the entire Catholic body, 299; Opinions of newspapers of various countries, 300; Advisers of the Italian Ministers, 302; The duty of the hour a most sacred and most pressing one, 303.

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF FREDERIC II. (Continued.) By Prof. St. George Mivart, F.R.S., etc., ... 304

The German emperor Frederic Barbarossa and his contemporaries, 304; At the zenith of his power, 308; Assuming a virtual supremacy over the Church, 309; His struggle with Alexander III., 310; First appearance of the names of Hapsburg and Hohenzollern, 311; Canonization of Charlemagne, 312; The Lombard League beats Barbarossa, 313; The Pope and the Emperor at Venice, 315; The empire at peace, 316; The Hohenstaufens continue in hostility to the Church, 317; Barbarossa as a Crusader, 318; The Emperor Henry VI. in Italy, 319; Fresh troubles in Italy and Germany, 320; Birth of Frederic II., 321.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S CONFLICT WITH THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. By Rev. H. J. Heuser, ... 322

The Culturkampf strengthening the Catholic party, 322; Bismarck's first steps towards Canossa, 323; Two sets of documents on the Culturkampf, 324; Making the Roman Catholics appear as the aggressive party, 325; Dr. Falk in office, Cardinal Hohenlohe, 326; First instalment of the May laws, 327; The strength of the Catholic press increases fourfold, 328; Tactics of the Catholic body in parliament, 329; The May laws applied in all their vigor, 330; What the Catholics wanted, 331; Increasing the people's courage and love for their clergy, 332; Dr. Falk regulating the clergy's education, 333; The Bishops made responsible for any mischief, 334; Beginning of negotiations between the Pope and the Emperor, 335; Attempting modifications of the May laws, 336; The Holy Father's first concession, 337; The exiled Bishops, 338; The issue of the strife shows Bismarck's inconsistency, 339.

THE COMING PLENARY COUNCIL OF BALTIMORE. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 340

The place Councils hold in Church history, 340; Difference between general and local Councils, 341; Early Councils in America, 342; Causes of Church growth in the United States, 343; Increasing desires for a Provincial Council here, 344; Composition and decrees of the first Council of Baltimore, 345; Origin and nature of the old Church trustee system, 346; Questions as to Church property, 347; Trustees and the jus patronatus, 348; The great question of secret societies, 349; The Constitution of the Church traced in the Councils, 350; Method of selecting Bishops and securing the salaries, 357; Regular parishes must soon be instituted, 352; Missionary rectors, 353; production and diffusion of good books, 353; Catholic schools, divorce, theological seminaries, 354; How much of the real progress of the Church is due to the decrees of the Councils, 355; The work of the coming Council, 356.

PAGE

THE SOCIOLOGICAL ASPECT OF CHRISTIAN CHARITY. By A. de G., . . 358

Effect on human society of the Christian code of ethics, 358; Charity entirely a product of Christianity, 359; Nature of the change effected by the Christian dogma of life, 360; The application of charity in the early ages of the Church, 361; St. Vincent de Paul and his works, 362; The gulf that yawns between the rich and the poor, especially in large cities, 363; A characteristic of modern civilization, 364; Charity should be tempered by wisdom, 365.

THE BEGINNINGS OF GEOGRAPHY. By Prof. Charles G. Herbermann, Ph.D., LL.D, ... 385

How slow must have been the progress in geographical knowledge, 385; Its earliest beginnings wrapped in darkness, 386; How the human race may have spread over the world, 387; Geography from the earliest historical times, 388; Growth of geographical knowledge among the Egyptians, 389; And the Assyrians, Babylonians, and Jews, 390; The division of the eastern world into three continents, 391; Achievements of the Greeks in the field of geography, 393; The important part that names play both in geography and in history, 394; Original meaning of the words Asia and Europe, 395; Were maps used in the extension of ancient knowledge, 397; Ancient maps and the earth's shape, 398; Estimates in those days of the earth's size, 400; Geographical knowledge with and without maps, 401; Distance marked on maps, 402; Means, methods, and instruments of the ancients for fixing longitude and latitude, 403; Ancient maps essentially defective in construction, 405; Did Hipparchus use converging meridians? 406; What Ptolemy did for geography, 407; Rome's contributions to the science of geography, 409; Resumé of this essay's contents, 411.

ON THE NATURE OF THE HUMAN SOUL. (Conclusion.) By Rev. J. Ming, S. J., 412

Sensationalism and its opponents, 412; The vital principle of brutes, 413; Whence we may prove intellection to be inorganic, 414; In what manner an organic faculty represents objects, 415; How far the senses aid in acquiring knowledge, 416; Properties which objects must necessarily have, 417; The senses perceive only the individual, 418; The difference as to reflection between the organic and inorganic faculties, 419; The intellect and the organic faculty opposed to each other, 420; Reasoning from the attributes of the will in favor of the spirituality of the soul, 420; The proof taken from the freedom of the will, 421; Beauty and dignity of the human mind, 423; The union of the human soul with the body, 424; The oneness of the human soul, 425; Proofs, 426; How the soul of man is united with the body, 427; The soul and body form one person, 428; The only means of explaining the composition of our being, 430; Explanations of the theory of information, 431; Difficulties acknowledged and answered, 432; Light on several important points, 434; How the human soul has been presented to our view by the proofs and points here given, 436.

THE DUTY OF CATHOLICS IN THE FACE OF MODERN UNBELIEF. By Rev. Richard F. Clarke, S. J., ... 438

The fate of all heresies, 438; Protestantism an exception only apparently, 439; Difference of its position in England and America, 440; The Protestant divines who are popular here, 441; Only the Catholic Church proof against modern thought, 442; But her children, as individuals, do not share in her indefectibility, 443; The position of Catholics a difficult one, 444; Effects of religious persecution in Ireland, 445; Whence the dangers to the faith derive their power for evil, 446; Religious controversy rarely productive of much good, 448; The safest attitude for the average educated Catholic, 449; Protestant ignorance of Catholic belief, 450; Conclusions drawn from what has been here said, 457.

QUID EST HOMO? A QUERY ON THE PLURALITY OF WORLDS. By Rev. Thomas Hughes, S. J., ... 452

The article on this subject in the preceding number of the QUARTERLY, 452; The utilitarian argument there used, 453; Considering its merits, 455; The argument itself insists and pushes onward, 457; Are there more inhabited world's than our own? 459; Reasons against supposing so, 460; Relation of Catholics to this discussion, 462; Our Lord's attitude towards the imaginary races in the stars, 463; The higher we mount in the dispensations of God the more we tend towards unity, 464; Giving a hearing to sacred wisdom, 466; The theory here considered presents us with a mean conception of man, 470.

THE PROGRESS OF THE CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES, FROM THE FIRST PROVINCIAL COUNCIL TO THE THIRD PLENARY COUNCIL OF BALTIMORE. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 471

The state of Europe fifty-four years ago, 471; Catholicity in America before that time, 472; The important growth even then attained, 473; Notes of the various dioceses, 474; Louisiana and Florida, 476; Where the progress was greatest, 477; Summoning and constitution of the First Council of Baltimore, 478; Its influence on Catholic literature, 479; Association for the Propagation of the Faith, 480; How the Church differs from schism and error, 481; The elements of a semi-century of progress, 482; Origin and growth of anti-Catholic violence, 483; The drain on Catholics for the erection and maintenance of the needed churches and schools, 485; Catholic colleges, 486; Fifth Council of Baltimore, 487; The Native American movement and riots, 488; New sees founded soon after, 489; New provinces and growth in them, 490; Effect of immigration on the Church, 491; Establishment and growth of religious orders, 492; Condition of the Church on the eve of the great civil war, 493; And at its close, 494; Progress in various respects since then, 495; The wants still to be met, 496; How the Church in the United States stands before the world, 497.

PAGE

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF FREDERIC II. (Continued.) By Prof. St. George Mivart, F.R.S., etc., ... 498

Italy during the early Middle Ages, 498; Pepin's donation to the Pope, 499; Charlemagne, 500; Events of the tenth century, 501; Account of Karolingia or France, 502; The last Carlovingians, 503; Hugh Capet and his successors, 504; Power of France and of the House of Normandy, 506; Scandinavia, 507; Denmark, 508; Norway, 509; Sweden, 510; Turanian tribes, 511; The Finns and others, 513; Slavonic peoples and Baltic lands, 514; Bohemia, 515; Poland, 516; Russia, 517; Spain and Portugal, 519; The Iberian peninsula at the close of the twelfth century, 522.

THE IRISH QUESTION, PRESENT AND PROSPECTIVE. By Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., ... 523

Advantage to the Irish party from a dissolution of Parliament, 523; The Liberal majority and the Irish party, 524; The Irish people never more determined and united, 525; The weapon with which Ireland may win all her constitutional rights, 526; Feeling in England against Ireland, 527; The dangers that beset the present Irish party, 528; Character of the factionists in Ireland at present, 529; The nationalization of land scheme, 530; The Nationalizers and the laborers, 531; English statesmen on the prospect of a rupture in Ireland, 532; Selection of proper candidates for Parliament, 533; The question of the payment of members, 534; Direct and indirect effects of this plan, 535; The keynote of the Irish situation, 536.

MARTIN LUTHER AND HIS AMERICAN WORSHIPPERS. By Rt. Rev. Monsignor Corcoran, D.D., ... 537

Thoughts suggested by the unveiling of Luther's statue in Washington, 537; Mistake made by the Lutheran clergy in this regard, 538; Difference between the lay and the clerical orators, 539; A "spouter's" assertions of falsehood, 540; The Catholic Church and thanksgiving days, 541; The grounds of the American glorification of Luther, 543; Luther and religious liberty, 544; He refused to others what he claimed for himself, 546; His hatred of the theologians who followed him, 547; His frame of mind towards Catholics, 548; Like leader like disciples, 549; Luther deserves no statue from Americans, 550; Where his statue would be most appropriate, 551.

ENGLISH AGNOSTIC CONCEITS. By A. F. Marshall, B.A. (Oxon.), ... 577

A religion without even the mention of God, 577; Supernatural faith and supernatural authority, 578; Some of the queer terms of the Agnostic creed, 579; Their word-smothering a veiled pretext for disguising their unbelief, 580; This new Paganism ought to be made enjoyable, 581; The mean, selfish thing that they would make of civilization, 582; Why the Agnostics object to the idea of another world, 583; Do the disciples of the new philosophers believe in the new philosophy? 584; How the newspapers help Agnosticism, 585; The professed atheism in Catholic countries, 586; Vanity of the Agnostic conceits and pleasantries, 587; Positivism a mere wordy puzzle, 589; A gigantic soap-bubble, never burst, but always thinner and thinner, 590; Agnosticism and conceit very much the same thing, 591.

THE ACADIAN CONFESSORS OF THE FAITH.—1755. By "G.," 592

The exiled Acadians martyrs for the faith, 592; How they became and were treated as British subjects, 593; Historians misrepresenting their position, 594; Hannay's falsehoods in favor of the British authorities, 595; The trial for recusancy not only unjust, but illegal as well, 596; The Acadians suffered because they were Catholics, 597; The story of what they underwent, 598; Depending for removal on French aid which never came, 599; The only privilege allowed them as British subjects, 600; The pretext for their banishment, 601; How the nefarious scheme was carried out, 602; The fate of most of the exiles, 603; Treated most harshly in New England, 605; And most favorably at Philadelphia and Baltimore, 606; Character of Smith's "Acadia," 607.

WHAT ARE THE THINGS THAT IT MOST CONCERNS US TO KNOW? By A. de G., 608

The copious literature on education that we now have, 608; Perplexing diversities of opinion as to what the curriculum of education should embrace, 609; Close connection of education with the consideration of life, 611; Position of Herbert Spencer and the modern school towards the supernatural in life, 612; What Spencer says of religion and the Absolute, 613; Analysis of some of his statements, 615; Recasting some of his salient points more systematically, 616; The premises which

PAGE

Spencer thinks science indisputably establishes, 617; Dr. Brownson and the Spencerian theory, 618; Why education should deal with the supernatural, 620; Summing up the position here taken, 621; Religion has always been man's inseparable companion, 622; The three sets of knowledge necessary for a complete education, 623; Character of the leaders of the modern school of thought, 624; Injury done to Christianity by Protestantism, 625; A complete education should be scientific, philosophical, and religious, 626; Education without and with religion, 627.

THE RELIGIOUS STATE. By Rev. Maurice Ronayne, S. J., ... 628

Sanctity as a distinctive characteristic of the Church, 628; The religious counsels distinctly specified by Christ and His Apostles, 629; Different degrees of charity among men, 630; The perfection to be gained by voluntary chastity and poverty, 631; The nature of a vow, 632; Vow taken by St. Paul, 633; Manner of life of the first Christian converts, 634; Arguments used by Fathers of the Church, 635; The vow of chastity always especially dear to the Church, 636; Plain, simple, and practical character of Christ's teaching, 637; The first necessary condition for following Christ, 638; Effect of His words on the primitive Church, 639; What a state of life, as to persons, implies, 640; The stability which comes from the obligations of vows, 641; The holiness required for the exercise of the priesthood, 642; Early ecclesiastical writers on the Christian life, 643; St. John the Baptist the first monk, 644; Devotedness of the religious orders in all ages of the Church, 645; Religious orders and the preaching of the Gospel, 646; Their labors among the heathen nations, 647; Their services against heresy, 648; The greatest of the glories resulting to the Church from the religious orders, 649.

THE RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF THE CHURCH IN REGARD TO EDUCATION. By Rev. James Conway, S. J., ... 650

The Church must necessarily possess extensive rights, 650; Teaching of Christ and His Apostles, 651; The Church always solicitous about all branches of knowledge, 652; The irruption of the barbarians, 653; How the Church civilized them, 654; The Church and education in the Middle Ages, 655; The Church's right to educate the Christian youth, 656; The difficulty between her and the modern state, 657; The Church has the right of supervising even secular instruction, 659; The correct view of elementary schools, 660; The Church's right of correcting and directing them, 661; Relation of middle-class schools to the Church, 662; Applying the same principles to the university, 663; Consequences of the abandonment of science to its own resources, 664; The Church cannot renounce her claims, 665; A few utterances of the Holy See, 666; Instructions from Rome to the Bishops of the United States, 667; Inferences drawn from some of the propositions of the "Syllabus," 668; Consensus of the Bishops on the question, 669.

THE NECESSITY OF RELIGION FOR SOCIETY. By Most Rev. Jas. Gibbons, D.D., 670

Religion the basis of civil society, 670; The obedience which we owe to society and the laws of the land, 671; Inadequate incentives to honesty in man, 672; What happens when justice stands in the way of personal interest, 673; The only adequate incentive to a loyal obedience to the laws, 674; Paramount importance of the influence of religion, 675; Religion is anterior to society and more enduring than governments, 676; Even infidels acknowledge this, 677; The great modern effort to overthrow religion, and its failure, 678; The religious element in our American civilization, 679; Jurists on religion and law, 680; Religion in the political institutions of the United States, 681; The dangers that threaten our American civilization, 683; How our youth should be trained, 684; Knowledge of religion even more important than that of history, 685; Popular education, to be truly useful, must be fundamentally religious, 686; The denominational system should be applied to our public schools, 687; Nature of the Sabbath, 688; Importance of drawing men closer to God, 689; Dangerous inroads on the Lord's Day in this country, 690; The ways in which Sunday services exert good influences, 691; There is no valid excuse for neglecting the observance of the Sunday, 692.

AN ITALIAN CHAMPION OF CATHOLIC RIGHTS. By Rev. Bernard O'Reilly, L.D. (Laval), ... 693

When Victor Emmanuel became king Cesare Cantù was engaged on his History of the Italians, 693; Why Cavour and the more advanced revolutionists held him up to scorn, 694; Intrigues of the war of 1859, 695; Cantù in conference with Napoleon, 696; He enters the new Italian Parliament at Turin, 697; Eloquent defence there of the Peter's Pence, 697; The government removed to Florence, 698; Brave words against civil marriage, 699; A most eloquent defence of the monastic orders, 700; And of the Middle Ages, 702; Despotisms, he says, came with the Renaissance and the Reformation, 704; Monastic institutions in both hemispheres, 706; Abstention of Catholics in Italian politics, 707; Pope Leo XIII. and Cesare Cantù, 708; Cantù tells his mind to a French Senator, 709; Honored by the people of his native town, 711; His advice to young men, 712.

CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOLS IN THE UNITED STATES—THEIR NECESSITY, CONDITION, AND FUTURE. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 713

Elementary schools in this country fifty years ago, 713; The Congregational system in New England, 714; How our elementary schools became "unsectarian," 715; An opportunity lost by the advocates of religious training, 716; Proselytism in State schools, 717; Action of the early Catholic councils, 718; Archbishop Hughes gave the motto of a new Catholic impulse, 719; Danger of unsectarian and necessity of Catholic schools, 720; Great growth of Catholic schools, even without organization, 721; The steps that must be taken to make the parochial school system permanent, 722; Diocesan school boards and normal schools, 724.

PAGE

THE RECENT AGGRESSIONS OF EUROPEAN POWERS IN ASIA AND AFRICA. By Bryan J. Clinche, ... 725

The recent revival of barbaric methods in international relations, 725; Lawlessness of the policy of the great powers of Europe, 726; Dividing the responsibility, 727; French aggressions against China, 728; The attack on Madagascar, 729; Russian advances in Central Asia, 730; "British interests" in conflict with the weaker powers of Africa and Asia, 731; The invasion of and retreat from Afghanistan, 732; The recent Egyptian war, 733; A German political writer applauding the modern system, 734; Politics and the law of right, 735.

THE INTERNATIONAL ELECTRICAL EXHIBITION OF PHILADELPHIA, SEPTEMBER 2D–OCTOBER 11TH, 1884. By Rev. J. M. Degni, S. J., . . . 736

Superior merits and slight shortcomings of the arrangements for this exhibition, 736; Division of the exhibits, 737; Beginnings of the knowledge of electricity, 738; Difference between statical and dynamical electricity, 739; Galvani and Volta, 740; Oersted and Ampère discover electro-magnetism, 741; Faraday and dynamic induction, 742; Particulars concerning dynamo machines, 743; Electrical conductors, 744; Instruments for electrical measurements, 745; Electric and magnetic units, 746; The British Association units, 747; The applications of electricity, 748; Telegraphy, 749; Modified by the new multiplex system, 750; Electric lighting, 751; Storage batteries, 752; History and fundamental idea of electric motors, 753; Electricity and terrestrial physics, 754; Our knowledge of the origin of electricity far from satisfactory, 755; Value of the Philadelphia exhibition, 756.

BOOK NOTICES.

PAGE

Acadia, A Lost Chapter in American History,..... 573
Advantages and Necessity of Frequent Communion,..... 572
Allocations, or Short Addresses on Liturgical Observances and Ritual Functions,..... 575
A Thought of St. Teresa for Every Day,... 576

Banes et Molina,..... 192
Baptism of the King, The,..... 580
Brownson (Orestes A.), Works of, 181, 570, 757

Catholic: An Essential and Exclusive Attribute of the True Church,..... 767
Catholic Dictionary (A),..... 371
Catholic Flowers from Protestant Gardens,..... 576
Characteristics from the Writings of John Henry Newman,..... 567
Children of the Golden Sheaf,..... 190
Children's Book,..... 576
Clavis Rerum,..... 366
Clock of the Passion,..... 384
Confession and Absolution,..... 767
Course of Empire,..... 576
Creation, or the Biblical Cosmogony in the Light of Modern Science,..... 374

Education, Herbert Spencer on,..... 576
Eternal Priesthood, The,..... 189
Exercitia Spiritualia, S. Ignatii de Loyola, 376

Footprints, Old and New,..... 571

God the Teacher of Mankind,..... 187
Government Revenue,..... 561
Greek Testament and the English Version, A Companion to the,..... 382
Growth in the Knowledge of Our Lord,... 575

History of the Thirty Years' War, Gindely's,..... 565

Irene of Corinth,..... 768

Joseph Hayden; The Story of his Life,.... 575

PAGE

Kadesh Barnea. Its Importance and Probable Site,..... 383

La Vie de N. S. Jesus Christ, Le Camus', 185
Life and Revelations of St. Margaret of Cortona,..... 514
Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ,..... 191
Life of Lady Falkland,..... 186
Life of the Venerable Father Claude de la Colombiere,..... 192
Life of the Venerable Servant of God, Clement Maria Hofbauer,..... 188
Luther: An Historical Portrait,..... 764

Man A Creative Cause,..... 768
Martin Luther. A Study of Reformation, 378
Mary Queen of Scots and her Marriage with Bothwell,..... 192

Notes on Ingersoll,..... 573

Œuvres Pastorales et Oratoires de Mgr. Perraud,..... 192

Parochial Hymn Book,..... 384
Philosophy in Outline,..... 553
Pilgrims and Shrines,..... 564
Popular Life of St. Teresa of Jesus,..... 575

Sermons for the Spring Quarter,..... 576
Sermons in Honor of the Blessed Sacrament,..... 572
Short Meditations on the Holy Rosary,... 574
Short Sermons for Low Masses,..... 192
Sinner's Guide, The,..... 574
Six Centuries of Work and Wages,..... 558
Six Seasons on Our Prairies and Six Weeks in Our Rockies,..... 572
Some of the Causes of Modern Religious Skepticism,..... 570

Teachings of the Twelve Apostles,..... 383
The New Parish Priest's Practical Manual,..... 381
The Reformation, Professor Fisher's,..... 176
The Religious State,..... 569
Tribute of Devotion to St. Mary Magdalen de Pazzi,..... 571